It is a regulatory requirement that all Public Eating Establishments have a person present who has successfully completed an approved course in food sanitation. It is recommended that all food handlers attend a food handling course and recertify their training every 5 years.

Applicants will receive a certificate upon successful completion. The course covers food handling, storage, preparation, sanitation and the causes of food borne illness. This course provides an outline of those practices that will lower the incidence of foodborne illness. Please note that this course is taught in English. Work books and exams are available in Korean and Chinese. Exams are also available in Vietnamese, Punjabi and Tagalog.

The cost of the course is $60.00 per person (including FOODSAFE Level 1 Participant Handbook, thermometer, and chlorine test paper), payable to Heartland Health Region.

Participants must pay upon arrival in order to attend the course.

You must pre-register 10 days prior to the course. Please arrive ½ hour prior to course so registration can be completed and course can begin on time.

We encourage you to take advantage of this training opportunity. If you are interested, please call the Rosetown Community Health Services Office at 882-2672 Option 3 then Ext. 3 to pre-register.

FOODSAFE Level 2 is designed for foodservice owners, managers, kitchen managers, executive chefs, and staff who are responsible for managing food safety in their establishments. The course covers food safety management, the causes of food borne illness, building a culture of food safety for employees, and developing Food Safety and Sanitation plans. Participants will receive a certificate upon successful completion.

FOODSAFE Level 2 is taught over 2 days and features 12 hours of instruction. The class is interactive and students work extensively in small groups. This course provides professionals in the food service and care industry with in-depth training on food safety.

FOODSAFE Level 2 is not a legislated requirement, but is recommended for owners, managers and supervisors that wish to improve their understanding of Food Safety and have previously taken a food handling course.

The cost of the course is $60.00 per person (including FOODSAFE Level 2 Participant Handbook, thermometer, and chlorine test paper), payable to Heartland Health Region.

Participants must pay upon arrival in order to attend the course.

You must pre-register 10 days prior to the course. Please arrive ½ hour prior to course so registration can be completed and course can begin on time.

We encourage you to take advantage of this training opportunity. If you are interested, please call the Rosetown Community Health Services Office at 882-2672 Option 3 then Ext. 3 to pre-register.
